

MISS JAMES O. KNIGHT WEDS DAVID DAVIES

Pretty Wedding Solemnized at Noon at Home of Supt. and Mrs. Winder.

The wedding of Miss James O. Knight and David A. Davies was solemnized today at high noon at Supt. and Mrs. C. H. Winder's apartment in the Albert, with Miss Sophia Albert as hostess. The bride had been at her home with Mrs. Winder since coming to Chattanooga. Dr. T. S. McCallie was the officiating minister. The apartment was prettily decorated in palms, ferns and field daisies.

Mrs. Harry Davies rendered the nuptial music, playing the wedding march from Lohengrin as the bride party entered the living room where an improvised altar had been arranged. Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional. During the ceremony "Melody in F" was played softly. Miss Anita George sang "Life's Gift," preceding the ceremony.

The attendants were Miss Dorris Taylor, maid of honor, and Capt. Harry E. Davies, best man.

The bride wore a becoming court suit of dark blue cloth with accessories to match. Her corsage was of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Taylor was attired in white georgette crepe, worn with large pink picture hat, and carried an arm bouquet of pink sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, in which the chosen colors, yellow and white was observed. Forty guests were present.

Mrs. Davies is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. West, of Wartburg, Tenn. She is a member of the 1918 graduating class of Erlanger. Mr. Davies is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Davies, well known Chattanooga residents. He is connected with the Southern railway.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies have gone to a wedding trip, the destination being withheld, and upon their return will be at home with the bridegroom's parents, at their apartment in the Carolina on Pine street.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. H. Bomer, Misses Eileen and Inez Bomer and Mrs. W. Phillips, of Nashville.

For Any Kind of Thin Stuff

(By Betty Brown.)

Any man will find this little dress charming, although he will not be able to tell that it is made of elegant mahogany chiffon over blue satin. Women who have a great deal of money to spend for clothes are now putting it into fine materials rather than expensive but superficial trimmings.

This model, a true "Mile Grandjean," is one which could be copied in any sort of soft figured material.

lined to sanitary and medical matters only.

6. The rank is to be relative, not actual and therefore bars emolument.

7. Military rank is granted nurses of Canada and Australia. In addition, there are officers' pay and quarters.

The bill now before the committee provides for conferring rank as follows:

One superintendent and six assistants with rank and title of major for executive officer.

One director and six assistants with rank of captain in charge of field army.

Chief nurses for army hospitals with rank and title of first lieutenant.

Regular army nurses with rank and title of second lieutenant.

There are now 11,422 army nurses against 350 in the Mexican campaign. A total of 30,000 is needed.

An additional 19,000 may be secured if it is urged by the conferring of military rank.

What Chattanooga Think of The Movement.

As the movement is an entirely new one, many Chattanoogaers thought to be interested have not given the matter serious consideration; however, several were willing to express an opinion of the subject.

Col. Munson, of Camp Greenleaf, was asked by a News representative what he thinks of the plan, but was somewhat loath to express an opinion as the matter is entirely without his province. "It is a matter resting entirely with the hospital division and the military committee—I am of the medical training division. There is no official representative of the hospital division hereabouts, so I have not had an opportunity to discuss the question and in fact, given it but little attention. However, since I understand that Mrs. C. B. Hearst is chairman of the committee, it is safe to assume that the House publications are the propounders. So far as the idea of vesting a nurse with rank and title goes, I do not see any objection.

Miss Ernestine Noa.

Asked concerning her attitude on the subject of conferring rank and title on army nurses, Miss Ernestine Noa, instructor and wearer of the red veil in the Red Cross, expressed in no uncertain terms the conviction that there is a person in the world deserving of both honor and authority if it is an army nurse.

"I have watched this sentiment grow," asserted Miss Noa. "Ever since Dr. Edith Mason asked for the title of lieutenant which was granted. Women undoubtedly should have all bars to greater efficiency removed.

The conferring of titles and rank to army nurses would certainly make for more zealous work. I was much impressed by a recent article in the Literary Digest and am of the firm opinion the movement is a go."

Miss Nathalie Plewes.

Miss Nathalie Plewes, head nurse of the Tuberculosis Hospital, "Pine Breeze," is also of the opinion that sentiment is ripe for the passage of the bill. She was pleased to discuss its provisions and point out wherein the army would be the gainer in increased efficiency. That the vesting of authority in chief nurses is to advantage, in critical cases of illness, she affirmed without saying. The movement she said originated in Washington.

Mrs. Powell Clayton.

Mrs. Powell Clayton, in charge of Red Cross work hereabouts, does not think the time ripe for open discussion. The question is hanging in the balance, and the creating of false hopes would be likely to confuse the work now under way. Those ready to sail overseas, are likely to be unsettled and disturbed, she believes.

Mrs. A. J. Gahagan.

With a keen interest in the question of nursing whether in or out of the army, Mrs. Gahagan was sought, but she said she had not given the matter serious attention. However, she agreed that greater efficiency and more systematic work might thereby be secured. She referred the question to the better knowledge of Miss Plewes, of Pine Breeze.

DR. NEIGHBORS RAPS RELIGIOUS SLACKERS

Prominent Ministers Among Hundred Delegates Here for Epworth League Meeting.

The Holston conference of Epworth leagues of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, began its annual session at Centenary church Tuesday evening. The session was featured by an address by Dr. W. S. Neighbors, presiding elder of the Cleveland conference, followed by a reception to the visiting delegates. More than one hundred guests have already arrived.

A large number of the workers of the Epworth leagues of the city were also present. H. E. Potts, of Abingdon, Va., presided.

The address of Dr. Neighbors was well received and was witty as well as logical. His subject was "God's Part and Our Part," in which he discussed the divine and human co-operation not only in redemption, but also in human affairs. In his climax he referred to the great war now in progress. He said, "God would win this war through the co-operation of righteous human help." In speaking of slackers, Dr. Neighbors said "if there were as many slackers among our soldiers as there are in the churches, the Germans would whip us in twenty-four hours."

A musical program was given by Mrs. Alina Haynes and Miss Annie Adams. Little Miss Milnes gave Longfellow's poem, "Sandalphon," with piano accompaniment and received much applause. Dainty refreshments were served by the Epworth leagues of the city.

Sessions will be held every morning, afternoon and evening throughout the week. Wednesday morning the time was devoted to the work of the various departments of the league. Groups of conferences were held. Several were prepared by workers who are especially prepared in the various lines of league work. A cordial invitation is extended to all members of societies of the churches of the city.

Among the visiting ministers are Dr. S. D. Long, Abingdon, Va.; Dr. J. T. Lowery, Hiwassee college, Tenn.; Dr. R. B. Platt, Jr., Marion, Va.; Dr. R. Cobb, Knoxville; Dr. W. D. Farmer, Piedmont, Tenn.; and Dr. J. H. Watkins, Knoxville.

Ex-Senator W. R. Webb, of Bell-buckle, Tenn., will deliver a lecture at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening.

MOTHER FRENCH ORPHAN WRITES TO FOSTER PARENT

Miss Maurine Dome Instrumental in Placing Several Orphans.

A young lady, employed with the Purse Printing company, Miss Maurine Dome, has been instrumental in placing several French orphans.

As an orphan adopted by herself on behalf of whom the mother of the child, Madame Courlier, writes in part as follows:

"Let us talk a little of the situation. I will tell you, mademoiselle, that the Germans are always boarding Paris, and there is a great cannon which shoots shells on the capital. All this is very sad and there is a daily danger of being injured by the shells and being buried on the capital. However, my dear mademoiselle, all that would be nothing if the war was drawing to a close, and we have great confidence in our dear allies, the Americans, helping us in this great campaign, which perhaps will not last very much longer."

"Now we also have the dear English who have given their blood for France, and we will never forget the great hearts of our dear allies who have given their lives for the aim of helping those who unhappily rest in want."

"In fact, dear mademoiselle, never will we forget the mark of goodness and sympathy that you have shown for us, little Eugene and myself, and the more he grows the more he will be able to prove himself the good little boy that he is."

"He loves you and talks about you as if he had always known you. The other day he was talking to me about you and he made this remark: 'Mama, tell me where my good American god-mother lives.' I explained that you lived very far away and it was impossible to see you. He wanted me to tell him why you were so far away from us and in his little head it seemed funny to him that you couldn't come, but you could write."

"He is 3 years old, but he is 5 years old in intelligence. If you buy him a suit, you would be very good to buy him one for a child 3 years old as he is not very big, and a suit for this will help him very nicely."

"I thank you infinitely and I will never forget your sweet goodness."

"I kissed little Eugene for you and he, too, sends you some good little kisses from France."

"With many thanks for your kindness, and with my kindest regards."

"MADAME COURLIER."

"P.S.: I will write you often now that I am getting well, but I am still feeble as yet."

DELAY ON MEMORIAL CHAPEL AT UNIVERSITY

Where Heads of the Institution Will Spend Summer Vacations.

About the only active work going on around the University of Chattanooga at this season is the work on the two buildings in course of erection, the science hall and the Memorial chapel. The chapel is a gift from Mrs. John A. Patten in memory of her husband, the late John A. Patten, and is planned to be very beautiful in every detail. The buildings are already spread at full length over the east side of what was formerly a part of the campus, and it is the intention of the contractor to have both completed by fall, however, it all depends on the ability to secure material and labor.

Work is going right along on the science hall, but there has been some delay in getting the window frames for the chapel. They are to be very heavy and to be made of heart pine. So far it has been almost impossible to get this grade of lumber.

The business office is kept open during the summer, and Dr. F. W. Hixson may be found there any day, applying himself to the interest of the school. Letters, catalogs and circular matter are being sent out. The president, says, so far the responses received, are very encouraging for the fall session.

Dr. Billings, Dean.

Dr. Thomas H. Billings, the newly elected Dean, is at Blue Ridge, N. C., attending a conference. He will later go to Chattanooga. As there is no summer school this year, there is nothing to interfere with his vacation.

Dr. Lynn H. Harris, of the English department, has taken a house on Walden's ridge for the summer.

Mrs. Fred W. Hixson, and son Robert, are in Colorado, and Jerome Hixson is in Colorado, for the summer. Miss Mildred Hart is taking a post-graduate course at the University of Chicago.

Dr. W. W. Hooper will take a much needed rest next month going to Greenbrier, Alderson, W. Va. Enroute he will stop over in Johnson City and visit the State Normal school at that place.

MISSIONARY MEETING TO BE HELD THURSDAY

The women of the Highland Park Baptist church will meet in regular monthly missionary session Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the church parlors. A special feature of the program will be the address of Mrs. W. F. Robinson, superintendent Woman's Missionary union of Ocoee association. A large attendance of the ladies is urged.

CHILDREN PRESENT FLAG AT RED CROSS BENEFIT

Little Miss Carmack Directs "Enchanted Garden" for Benefit War Fund.

The patriotism of a number of children living in the vicinity of Fourth and Houston streets was manifested Monday night, when, upon their own initiative and without assistance from older people, they staged and enacted a play entitled "The Enchanted Garden," at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carmack.

Miss Elizabeth Carmack, the young daughter of the household, was not only directress, but fashioned most of the costumes, which were artistic in the extreme. Then they printed their own tickets and program, charged ten cents admission, and completely filled the home-made "auditorium" with a fourteen-dollar audience. When the returns were all in, the sum, so carefully earned, was turned over to the Red Cross.

OFFICERS WATCH FOR SMUGGLERS OF JEWELS

Wealthy Russians Trying to Dispose of Jewelry and Art Works.

Washington, June 19.—Investigation of the plot to smuggle jewels into the United States from Russia has convinced officials that many wealthy Russians are trying to dispose of jewelry, art works and other precious belongings in view of the chaotic conditions in that country. Several hundred thousand dollars' worth of paintings recently have been imported from Russia, and more are reported on their way. Officers are watching for further attempts to smuggle in jewels.

Millions of dollars' worth of jewelry and works of art from Russia are being sold in Germany to manufacturers and other classes who have made money out of the war, according to reports received here.

Timely Warning.

Don't wait until the last minute, but act as soon as the first indications of a bilious attack appear, and you can usually ward it off. You have timely warning, as your appetite fails some hours before the attack appears, and you keep on eating because it is meal time. Skip one meal and take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets and the attack can as a rule be prevented and all the distressing symptoms avoided. Try it. (—Adv.)

When Your Baby Laughs

all the world turns rose color, doesn't it?

No wonder! For that happy chuckle means your baby is well and happy. It means he is what nature meant him to be. It means his food is doing him good.

But if he has trouble—if, instead of laughing, he frets—if he is awake and cries at night instead of sleeping peacefully—then change his food.

Give him the nearest thing in the world to mother's milk. Give him Nestlé's Food—which itself is milk, only purer than you get in bottles, changed a little so that it is easier for your baby to digest, and with just the right amount of sugar and cereal added
